Centerama '79 saves a slice of your life the Marion CENTER SLICE that is ...

You might think the pun or play on words centers in on our school's name. Right? Or perhaps you think it belongs with the title of this yearbook. Right? Or maybe you would like to think of it this way. Where had we spent the greater portion of our time since the ripe old age of six? In school! What portion of our lives had we spent in school? The greater portion - we just told you! For us, that became the CENTER SLICE. How was this unique to 1979 alone? Read through our book and find out. We hope you like it!

Right: Parents drive their children to school past picketing bus drivers and their cardboard replica of a school bus. Below: Among other "early birds" Lilly Blystone and Josette Borst wait in the morning for the school doors to open.

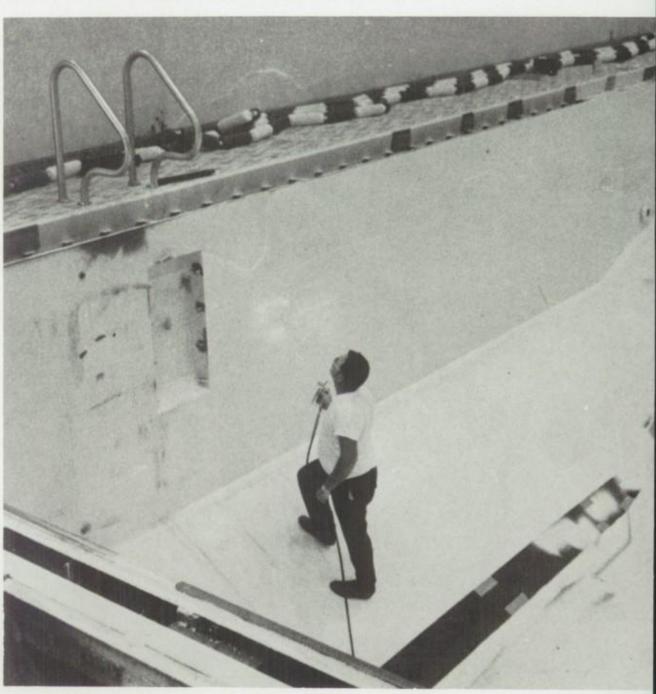

Our year began so strangely! As if it weren't enough being fed to a computer (for the first time ever) to be scheduled into classes, we had to face 11/2 weeks of carpooling and traffic jams while the bus drivers were on strike. What a sweat! Then we arrived only to find a bone-dry swimming pool because it was being refurbished.

This seemed to set the tone for the rest of the year. So many things seemed different, and yet few things had really changed completely. Take the food, for instance - it was the same stuff, but we were finally allowed to choose our meals.

Everything around us seemed to be divided and subdivided. A year was divided into semesters; each semester included two 9-week grading periods; and, perhaps the most significant change in grading procedure in years, at the half-way point of each grading period came the mailing of the dreaded deficiency reports. And, although the program had been around for a year, some students still were not used to being separated into tracks.

Was it really such a chopped-up year? Or maybe we just imagined it all. Perhaps it only seemed that way because of the huge chunk of time (at least 12 days) lost on snow days. Whatever the reason, this was 1979 sliced the way we knew it to be!

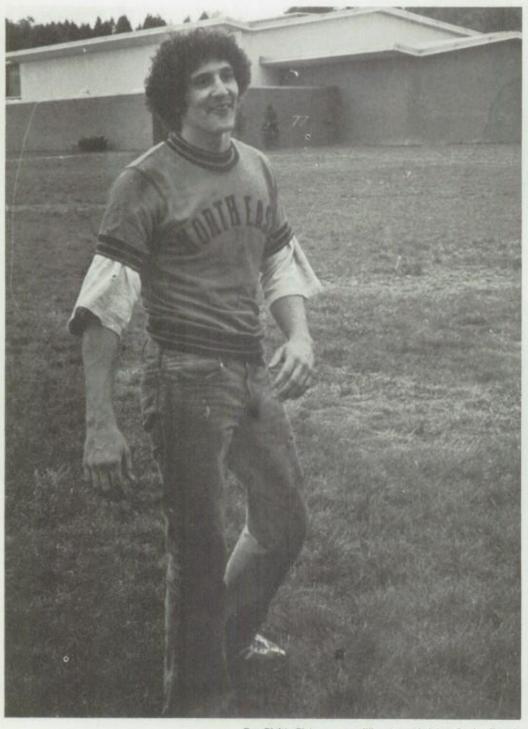

Chopped, Diced, Shredded, SLICED to Fit the Year!

Below: Members of MCAHS faculty show the strain of Middle States Evaluation. Mr. Keith Bloom introduces Curwensville H.S. Principal James Pavlock to Mr. W.H. Wood at a meeting on September 29, 1978 (the first of our early dismissals). Bottom: Oranges, grapefruit, tangelos - Kaopectate!! The FFA needs to peddle fruit for survival! The sale starts December 7,

As soon as all the confusion of the new school year (along with the new surprises) was over, we pulled ourselves together and had us one heck of a good year. Our football game against our rivals - Indiana - was tough - but we survived! The Ag students and their fruit sale - it was a lot of hard work, but they survived. The teachers with their Middle States Evaluation meetings and all the hassles they had - they, too, survived. Sounds like all we did was struggle to survive, but if you think about it, the year 1979, (as you'll be able to see) was one of struggles for survival.

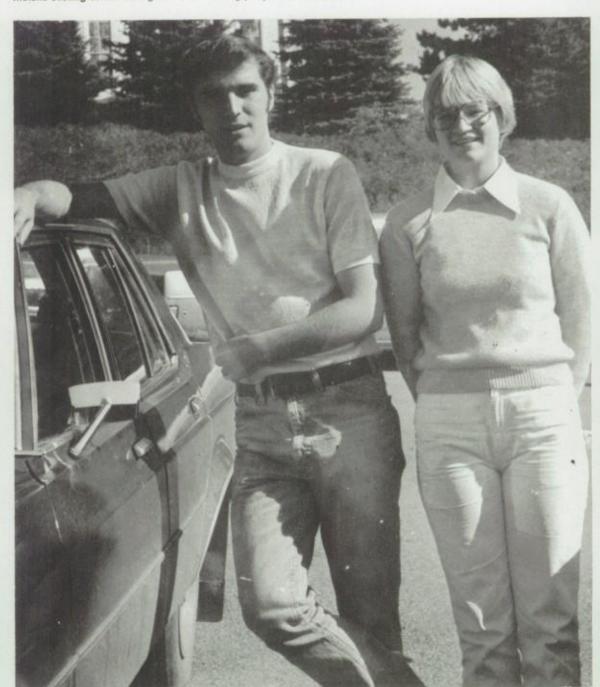

Learning in a Distant Land

A field trip all the way to Japan? Believe it or not, that's how one senior spent two months of her summer vacation. Lori Lesnak lived with a Japanese family in Osaka, Japan, the second largest city in Japan. The family she stayed with was involved with industry, so she learned a great deal about economics and trading, in addition to the knowledge she gained concerning Japanese customs. Lori was able to visit many places such as the Sea of Japan, Nara, Kyoto, and Kobe. She also did a lot of shopping and visited several feudal castles. Lori came home with a great store of knowledge and many happy memories!

Below: Shown ready for their voyage to Harrisburg for the Pennsylvania School Board Association Convention held October 25-27, 1978, are Tom Nealer and Cyndy Tucker. Upper Right: Buses that carried us to so many places stand outside the Indiana Skating Center during the senior skating party March 21, 1979.

Above: Seniors Darrell Snavely, Pauline Weston, Bob Mallory, Bill Overdorff, and Rick Heberling visit Marion Center Cemetery after reading Gray's Elegy Written in A Country Churchyard. Lower Right: Marianne Bruno, who was selected by the senior class to travel to Wellsboro, PA, to compete in the Pennsylvania State Laurel Queen's Contest, June 15, 1979, receives hearty congratulations from Principal Robert L. Stewart. Runner-up at Marion Center was Robin Weaver.

Jaunts... Junkets...

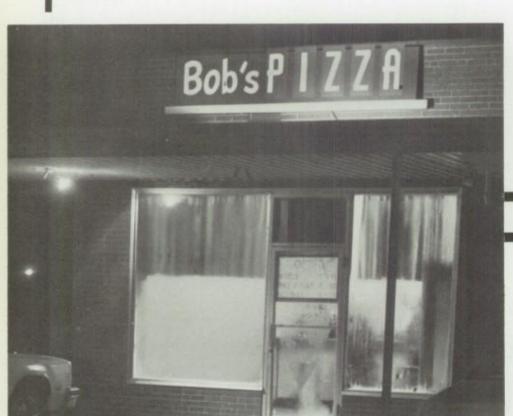

Mobility was the word for us this year. Educational trips were at their best in '79. A large number of Marion Center students brushed aside blackboard and textbook to take a good look at the world beyond the walls of M.C. — and what wonders they beheld!

Senior Band members found themselves in awe at Florida's Disneyworld. The jaws of seniors dropped nearly to the ground when they saw their first slice of "the Big Apple," New York City! A few "lucky ones" spent time in such far away places as Japan and Russia. (See feature story on 8th grader Denver Braughler, p. 146.) But it wasn't necessary to travel that far to learn a lot, as any member of Latin Club who visited the Pittsburgh Zoo could tell you. Nearby skating centers were real educations too! Students enrolled in the gifted program found a special learning experience as nearby as the computer center at IUP. Yes, we found many different ways to open our minds to new ideas while breaking the monotony of the usual school routine!

Indiana. What a town! The place to go the weekends. Either at Bob's or McDonald's or somewhere in between, we were there. Even though Indiana High School was not a favorable name among us, the town of Indiana was our "neutral territory" — not only for us, but for some surrounding schools. Whether we went to the movies or to eat or just to hang out and shoot the breeze, we had some good times in Indiana.

Indiana, for some reason, was always the one school everyone at MC wanted to beat. Even though MC didn't play Indiana in basketball because of the different school classifications, when the Christmas Tournament came around — watch out! This year MC was determined to beat those Indians at their own game on their home territory.

This year we got fed up with some "Indians" teasing us about not having a football team. So we got together about twenty guys and challenged a few Indiana athletes to a football game to be held at Indiana Senior High in the field above the student parking lot. Some Indians laughed, but when they found out we were serious, the game was on.

Octover 7, 1978, would be a date that would live forever in the memories of the MC fans who showed up for the game. The lines were drawn, the decision made to score by touchdowns only, with a real live ref (Jake "The Snake" Watkins) calling the plays. The weather was frightful! Halftime saw the field being filled with large hailstones. The 'hardy' Indians fled the field-score 2 to 1 their favor. They stopped while they were ahead. Technically we lost, but deep down inside, we had won our own battle.

This was the beginning of football at MC as far as we were concerned — unorganized, true, but nonetheless we proved ourselves tough competitors in the long standing rivalry between MC and Indiana.

Right: Jake "The Snake" Watkins (West Virginia Jacket), a certified referee calls the plays.

We Did It! ... Sorta!

Lower Right: Neither snow, sleet, rain, nor Hail could keep these dedicated Marion Center fans from the football game.

Above: It seems as if the only thing going through the players' minds is, "I've got to get that ball!"

The Student Body — Fashions and Faces

Below: Michele Wood is all decked out and in style wearing a skirt, vest, tunic top, and boots. Frizzed hair is also a fad this year.

Left: Clippety-cloppety clogs!! It seems that nearly every girl at M.C. has a pair to wear.

Top: Various looks of boredom are shown on the faces of Jamie Nibert, Marie Hogan, and Tracy Lydick as they attempt to study. Above: It's truly amazing to see just how much some people can cram into their mouths - right Rich? (Richard Lack, that is!)

For out student body, 1979 was a year for comfortable clothes that were easy to live in and which suited our lifestyles. At MC, a pair of clogs, vests and men's ties, skirts and matching blazers. and tunic tops were items that a member of the female gender just had to have to be welldressed. The males were less picky about their attire. T-shirts were their main garments, but when the occasion came for dressing up - WOW did they look sharp in their three piece suits! There were also unisex clothes - bibbed overalls, corduroys and sweaters were worn by all; however, the "everlasting" pair of blue jeans was still, by far, the favorite among the students. They were worn everywhere, and there were many different styles from which to choose - anything from straight legs to fatigues were IN.

The clothes were pretty much alike, but everyone's face was different and everyone had one. Faces were good things to have - their expressions showed everyone what we were feeling (sometimes that is); however, an occasional problem did pop up on our faces - the dreaded zit!! Our faces and their reflections of our many moods set us apart - made us truly unique!

Below: Scheduling problems still existed in February when the second semester started.

Close Encounters of the Computerized Kind

New and old students were "guinea pigs" for the new computer scheduling and the new Key Management Lunch Services.

The computer was definitely an experience. With guys being scheduled for gym with the girls and vice-versa and some classes scheduled during our lunch period (how could they!) it was pretty wild! But soon everything was straightened out with the expert help of our guidance counselors. After the continuous complaints and even a brown bag strike, Key Management was employed at our school. A variety of foods was offered to us from steak sandwiches to chef's salads and orange drinks. The majority of the students were satisfied with this change.

There were neat ones, messy ones, ones that were "spiffed up" and most were jam-packed; but one thing was true, our lockers reflected our personalities and gave us a place to call our own. It was sometimes amazing to see just how much "stuff" we could crowd into that thin, drab brown space; and landslides of books, sweaty gym clothes, and other paraphernalia were common occurrences when unsuspecting students opened their locker doors between classes. There was also always a lot of fun to be had at our lockers. "Messing around" with friends was a favorite pastime of the average student before and after school, and between classes. Of course, lockers were always good things to lean against when a student was with his special someone. Yes, they were good things to have and good places to go for some action during the day.

Study halls were always good things to have, too, and were, for the most part, looked forward to by the students lucky enough to have them. It seemed there were as many different ways to spend study hall time as there were students who had them. Just what did get studied in study halls? Well, trips to the library to get a book or do research were frequent for some students, but seeing who was doing what in other classes was always fun on the journey to the IMC. Though frowned upon by the teachers, copying last minute assignments, reapplying makeup; and, of course, writing notes or talking to friends were many students' ideas on spending their forty minute period. Believe it or not, some students actually studied! But whatever a person chose to do with his time in study hall, it was a chance to break away from classes and have a little time to himself.

Free at Last

Where on earth did so many people get the crazy idea that the world stops turning the minute classes end in the spring? It should have crossed a person's mind at least once that high school students had other things to look forward to besides school!

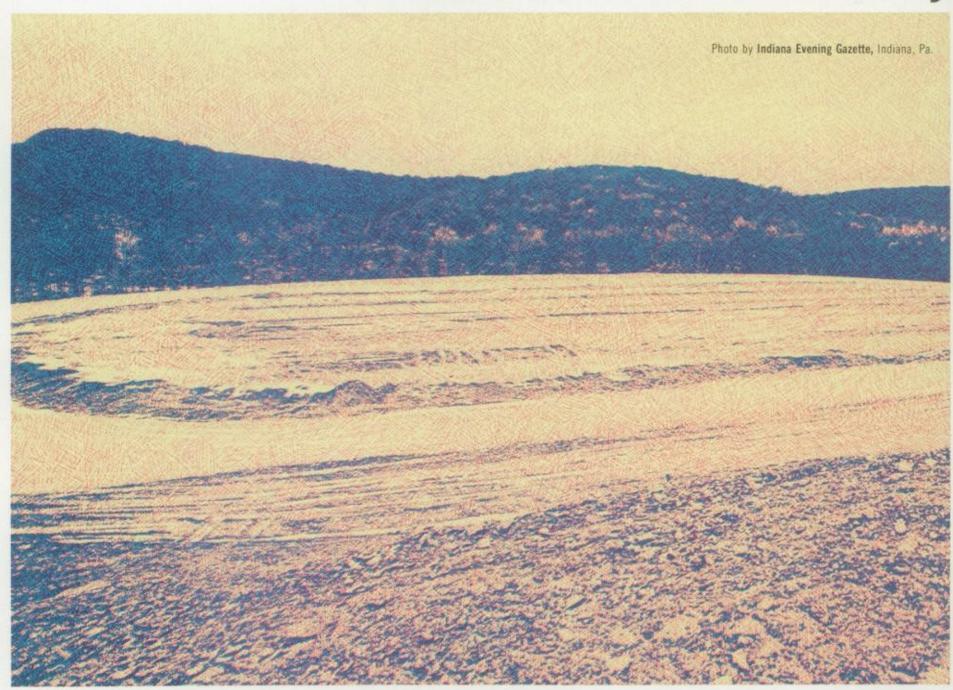

The students in our district showed interest in a lot more than classes and homework projects. We were more than ready for the arrival of June and the good times that came with it! With summer came opportunities to attend clinics and workshops to help athletes, cheerleaders, majorettes, even high school journalists. Some students took driving instruction with Mr. Ted Holtz. Summer was also the time for Junior and Senior Legion Baseball games. As always, the marching band was slaving away at practices and participating in area parades, collecting honors along the way. And, of course, this was the time for seniors to get "all gussied-up" for their senior pictures.

When the school doors opened wide on August 28, 1978, we didn't mind so much having to go back to school, because we had had plenty of fun and freedom during the summer.

Top Left: Students who attended the Ohio University Journalism Workshop June 25-30, 1978, are Brenda McCracken, Cyndy Tucker, Carla Wetzel, and Nonna Wahler. A promise is a promise!

Students in the Community

On November 18, 1978, The Indiana Evening Gazette carried a picture of the 400-meter temporary track built to accommodate MC sports.

The track was designed by First Lt. Pat Daugherty, Engineer with Headquarters Company of the National Guard in Johnstown. Much of the work was done by FFA classes under the direction of Dr. James Cook. Bill George was responsible for digging the ditches. FFA boys cut all the lumber, laid out the field, leveled land, and gathered stones. These lads also laid 5,106 feet of drainage tile and covered it with gravel. They built forms and cast with concrete 12 inlet boxes and installed the surface drains.

According to Dr. Cook, all of this work would have been impossible without the cooperation he and FFA crews received from Colonel Robert Irvin, Pa. National Guard and the men of The National Guard Engineers' Battalion in Johnstown and Company B in Punxsutawney. We'd like to think that none of this would have happened without the dream, the vision, and the willingness of our young men to labor to see the dream become a reality.

Public Relations Agents

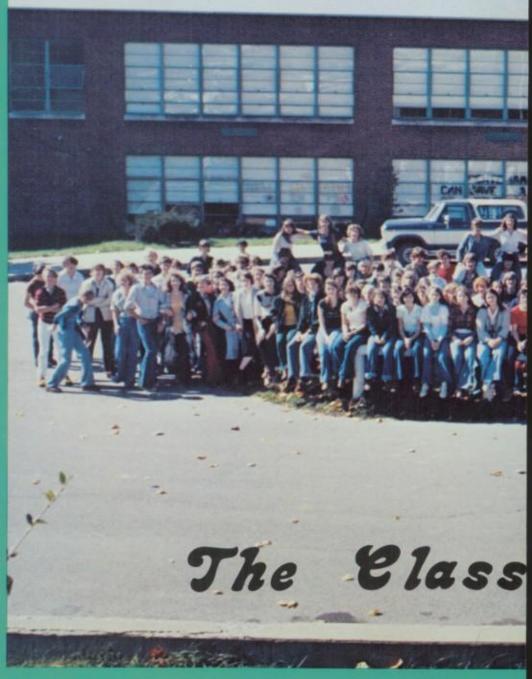

Did you know that MC had its own kind of public relations agents? Many people did not think of them in that way because they were primarily musicians. Who were they? The Jazz Rock Ensemble, of course!

Besides performing for audiences in the Marion Center School District, they also represented our school in nearby school districts when they presented concerts to the students of those schools. The group was going stronger then ever in its third year. Since 1977 their popularity had grown so that now many adult organizations requested their performances at social events.

"Carnival" Comes to M.C.

This year the second annual dinner/musical was successfully performed at Marion Center High School under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Popp, assisted by Songleader Carolyn Craft and Pit Orchestra Director Ralph Cribbs. The students were, in six weeks, able to put together a musical that was enjoyed by all.

"Carnival," the musical itself, was a heartwarming story about a young lady who came to the carnival looking for work and was immediately infatuated with a flambouyant magician. Her feelings turned, in the end, to a crippled puppeteer who had been seeking her love since he had first met her. The magician then turned back to his real love, his assistant.

The musical was enhanced by four puppets, who expressed the true feelings of the puppeteer to the girl he loved.

The menu for the meal before the performance was a delectable ham dinner prepared by Mrs. Mary Keith and a marvelous supporting cast of student cooks.

We Did It All For Fun

If a student looked back on a year and tried to pin down one event that made the year, that person would probably find it impossible. Our year was packed full of crazy days and wild happenings that couldn't be named with one word like "prom" or "commencement." Some of the most memorable moments of our school life might have been referred to like this: "Remember the time in chem lab when So-and-so's bunsen burner blew up?" Or "Do you remember the student/faculty ballgame?" Indeed, we remembered, and there was much to remember. And we knew that those times were fun times!

Far Left: Softball teammates Mrs. Joan Freeman, Ms. Rebecca Gaiser, and Mrs. Marjorie Popp wrap it up after a tough game. Middle: Dawn Palmer, posing as one of Chaucer's traveling companions in the pilgrimage to Canterbury, thinks she should eat more often at the Tabard Inn where the food is delicious and the company, enjoyable. Upper Right: Denise Broadbent makes the most of her role as model to help her classmates decide on class colors. Above: Miss Bonnie Nesbitt and Mrs. Peggy Gast show that math teachers are as handy at softball as they are at theorems and axioms.

What gets sunburned, plays Frisbee in the middle of the night, and spends two glorious days in Florida? The Marion Center Band, of course! The band left Marion Center on May 15, 1979, and traveled slowly southward until it reached its destination - sunny warm Florida. Members were given a well deserved break from the 24 hour bus ride when the buses stopped for a few hours to let band members enjoy the wild waves of Daytona Beach. After enjoying the warm sand and sparkling water, they were on their way again and finally arrived at the Ramada Inn in Orlando for a dress up banquet and swimming. The next day was spent at fun-filled Disneyworld where band members and their chaperones shopped and saw all the sights it had to offer. Then it was back to the hotel for a pool side Bar-b-que and more swimming. An added attraction was a show with Polynesian singers and dancers in which some of the band members chaperones, and even the bus drivers (yea Will!!) got to show how well they could hula. After a good night's sleep (?) the band trekked back to Disneyworld and did what they do best - performed in Dumbo's Circus Parade! Tired, but happy, they started the long trip back home taking with them sore ribs and memories that would last forever from their vacation in the sunny South.

Right: In an assembly, the most important thing is to enjoy yourself, as do Joe Weaver, Jim Bothell, and Randy Stear, who agree that "We're #1!" Below: Students and faculty alike are amused to see John Kunkle receive a pie in the face from Shelby Leasure.

Time To Enjoy

There were many little occasions that, although they weren't really necessary, we would have found it hard to imagine what school would be like without them. Assemblies and concerts were good sources of entertainment as well as a chance to break the day to day routine. Sometimes students and faculty united to provide the entertainment; at other times guest performers, such as the IUP volleyball team, Canadian gymnasts, or the Air Force Stage Band, came to show us their skills.

Another source of enjoyment was skating parties. There were three held this year - two at the Punxsy Skate Haven and one at the Indiana Skating Center. At either location, the order of business was food, friends, a few bruises, but most of all FUN!

Welcome to the

It all started with the first meeting of the prom committee. Then came many ideas that had to be sorted and then selected. Band possibilities had to be checked into, invitations for the seniors had to be taken care of, and many decorations ordered. Then came the day for the real work to begin. Some juniors were excused from school two days to prepare for the prom, and they also worked after school into the evening. Even though there was a lot of work to do, they enjoyed themselves — it was their chance to be creative. The long hot hours working for perfection paid off as the juniors created their Grand Illusion.

See What's Happening

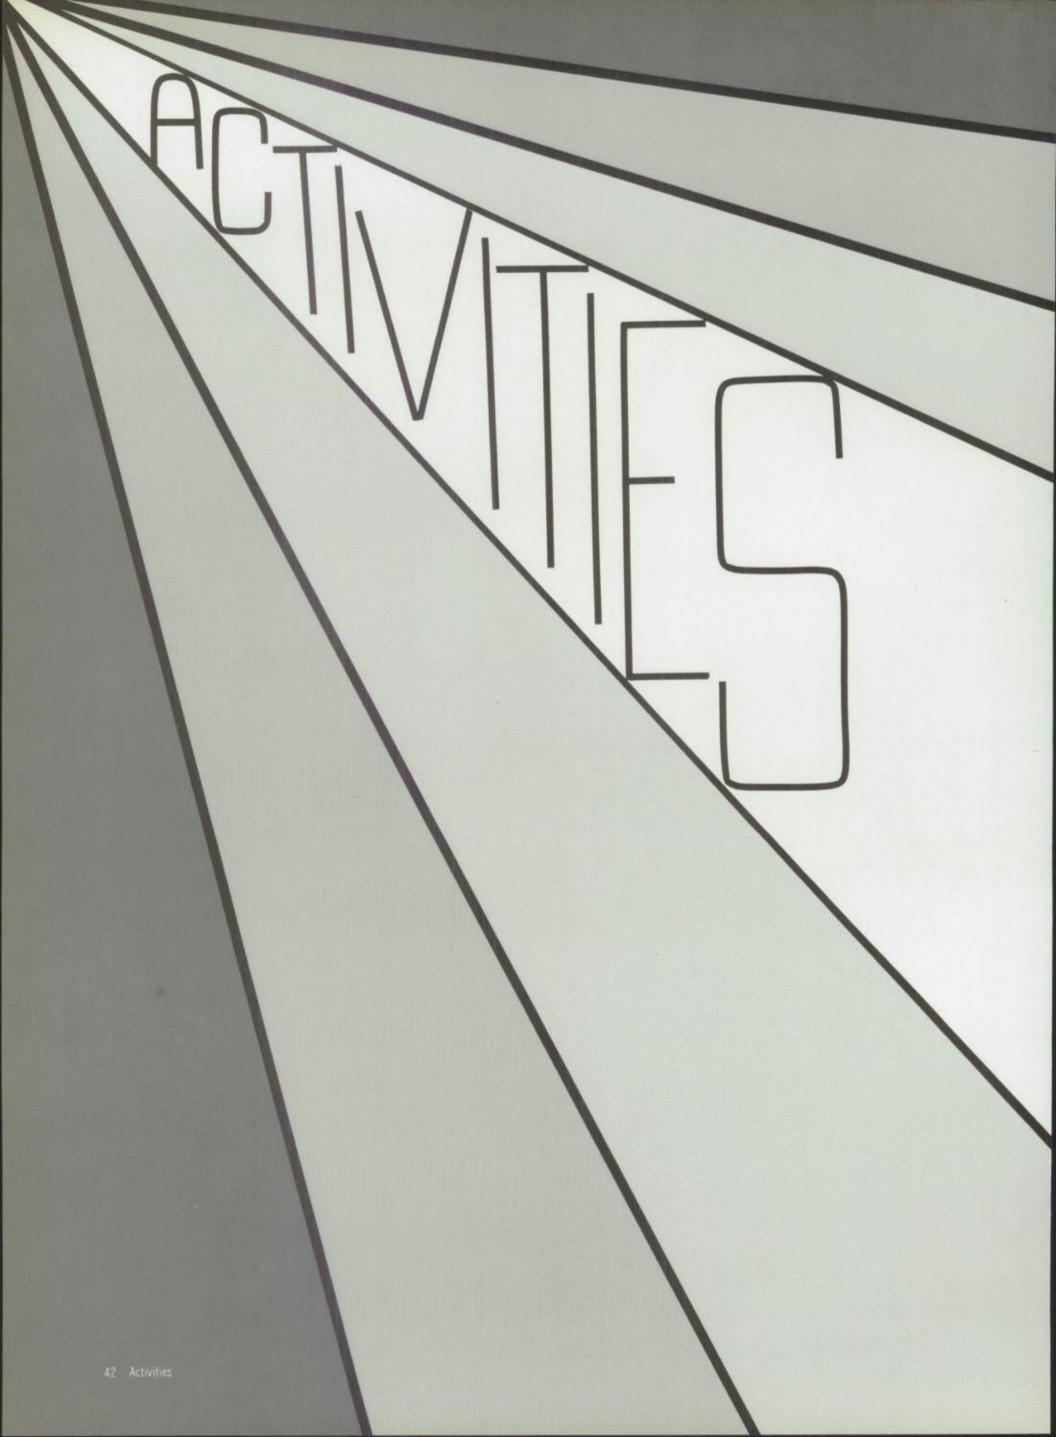

And the prom of 1979 was indeed a grand illusion. Yards and yards of crepe paper streamers in shades of pink, blue, and yellow and castles and angel hair; a fountain; a blue unicorn, and a pair of large red lips complete with green tongue as the platform for the band. What more could anyone ask? There was a grand march where each couple got to "show off" their dates and their outfits. Lots of music from the band Hott and lots of fun. But that wasn't all. The After Prom was started off in the cafeteria - food to be consumed by the hungry dancers. Then back to the gym for more dancing to a different band now, Rampage. Definitely a night to remember and definitely a Grand Illusion.

The Beginning of ...

The first thing you heard coming down the street during a parade was the great MC band. The first thing you saw was the MC band front. The band front consisted of two banner carriers, one color guard unit made up of five members, one silk squad of 17 members, one drum majorette, and for the first year the band front added a rifle squad consisting of 8 members. Not only did the silk, color guard, and rifles march with the band all summer, but they performed pre-game shows at various home events. This meant more practices added to those in the summer. The silks had additional work to be done to raise money for new flags so a car wash was held. Along with the band, the band front helped to raise money for the Florida trip. The band parents organized many money makers such as: Spaghetti dinners, pizza sales, raffles, a spoon supper, and many other fun events. Monies earned paid for much of the Disneyworld trip expense.

To have a good band front we needed the above five units, disciplined with one band front adviser, Mrs. Patti Miller, backed up with a well-balanced band, disciplined by one band director, Mr. Keith Bloom. We had The Beginning of Something Great!

With their heads held high, and their spirits as well, Marion Center's own majorettes marched on to victory.

The senior high squad, consisting of eight majorettes and two alternates, appeared in many parades, a concert in MC's park, and at Band Nite at Indiana's Fair. But where the girls gave their all was at the contests. Performing to "Roman Nights" and "Lady Marion," our own senior high majorettes took home a second place trophy from Johnstown, and a first place trophy from the IUP contest.

The Cadet squad also performed at many parades, a concert in the park to "Close Encounters Theme," a basketball game to "The Wiz," and at the Ox Hill and Cookport Fairs. These girls traveled to Altoona, and gave a terrific performance to the song, "Meco's Medley," bringing home to MC a fifth place win.

The 1978-1979 year was a terrific year for MC's majorettes — our own Champions!

Our majorettes couldn't have reached the height of performance they did without Mrs. Patti Miller. She was behind them all the way to their victories. Mrs. Miller went through all the hard work, the same as our own majorettes. As Patti Himes, she had been a majorette for eight years. She started as a majorette in eighth grade, and helped to give pride to Marion Center's Cadet Band front. During her senior year, the Marion Center squad took first place at the Indiana Area contest held at Derry Area High, and why not? With Patti Himes as captain of the varsity squad, a first place was a "sure thing"! She then went on to three years at the IUP college as a majorette. In April, the majorettes held a baby shower for Mrs. Miller. We won't be seeing her for a while, but we hope to have her back soon!

Something Great

SOMETHING GREAT. Those were the exact words that fit the description of the senior band. Band members were kept busy with hard work and a fun filled schedule. During the summer months, they represented our school at several parades. After taking top honor at their first parade they couldn't be stopped; they continued to take their most deserved first places throughout the summer at every parade. After such a successful summer season of six first places the pressure was on the band to try to outdo itself! For this reason the band worked hard for hours on end trying to perfect themselves, and that is exactly what they did! The Christmas Concert cheered hearts and raised spirits of the attentive listeners. It, like other concerts, was a big success! The band also pleased their audience by holding their annual Spring Concert. Receiving awards were Tom Betts, outstanding senior; Jennifer Grover, outstanding underclassman; and Ronna Dermitt, outstanding majorette. When the invitation to Florida's Disney World arrived the marchers' spirits soared and still more hard work was in store. Practices were held during and after school and on an individual basis. Every band member labored to make the MC band SOMETHING GREAT!

Cadet Band, along with director Mr. Ralph Cribbs, was quite active this year. Students from grades seven through nine were included in Cadet Band. Money-raising projects consisted of a candle sale, and raffles, among others. In the raffle, a project shared with Senior Band, the person who had the winning ticket won a free trip to Florida. The band performed in the Halloween, and Memorial Day parades. Concerts which they were in were the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, and one for the primary grades. They introduced the kids to instruments and their sounds. A guest soloist came to play in the Spring Concert. He was from Norwin High School. He was a senior and did his solo on the trumpet. That's the way the Cadet Band's year went . . . Quite active!

The String Ensemble consisted of seventeen members. Instructor and Director of String Ensemble Mrs. Jean Zbur worked really hard with these students once a week on Monday nights after school from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. A concert was given for the P.T.A. April 17, 1979, at Creekside Washington Elementary School. There was also an elementary concert May 8, 1979, at 7:30 p.m.. One member of the group, Tom Lambing, represented the Ensemble at student council meetings. Mark Richardson and Troy Perkins represented our school at district and regional orchestra for the third consecutive year. That's what String Ensemble's year was like! It wasn't all fun. They had to work, but their hard work paid off! They were a good group!

Music came to us in many forms from groups of various sizes. One of these groups was the Jazz/Rock Ensemble. The Ensemble, organized by arranger/director Mr. Ralph Cribbs, performed a wide range of styles, including ballads, disco, and good ole rock and roll. A group picture of the Ensemble appears with a feature story on page

The Junior High Chorus, performed a rather large repertoire this year which included "Tomorrow" from the broadway hit production "Annie," "Amen, So Be It," "Consider Yourself" from "Oliver," and "Here Comes the Parade," just to name a few. They were directed by Mrs. Maxine Wellen during first semester and Mr. Philip Tartalone, second semester.

A new vocal group formed this year was the Chamber Singers, which was also directed by Mr. Philip Tartalone. They sang many selections, specializing in madrigals (Sixteenth Century English songs), Italian sonnets, and contemporary ballads.

A Slice of TALENT

The Senior High Chorus started out missing a big slice. Many of the members had schedule conflicts and couldn't attend the 7th period practices. The few members who were there asked permission to go out to the study halls and recruit people.

The Chorus got more members and the Christmas Concert was held on December 13, 1978, at which time a tape was made for WDAD. A smaller group that performed was the Marionettes. These two groups were under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Wellen. Because of the absence of Mrs. Wellen the second semester Mr. Philip Tartalone was hired as chorus director. He changed the mixed chorus into a Women's Chorus and a Men's Glee Club. A spring concert was held on May 10, 1979.

Perfection. That was the goal of the many M.C. students who represented us at music festivals not only throughout Pennsylvania, but as far away as Atlantic City, New Jersey.

County Band and County Chorus Festivals were held at Indiana Junior High School and United High School, respectively.

Although four M.C. applicants, Brenda Belardinelli, Kevin Neal, Nonna Wahler, and Pauline Weston, were accepted for the District Chorus Festival in Leechburg, PA, only Brenda, Kevin, and Nonna were able to attend. At the Festival, Kevin and Nonna qualified for the Regional Chorus Festival in nearby Indiana, PA; however, Kevin was unable to participate in Regionals.

District Band, which played in Rimersburg, PA, welcomed five M.C. students, Tom Betts, Henrie Coulange, Jennifer Grover, Troy Perkins, and Nonna Wahler. Tom, Henrie, Jennifer, and Nonna qualified for Regional Band in Emporium, PA, though Nonna was unable to participate along with the others.

Because of their high achievements in the 1977-78 school year, three M.C. musicians, Tom Betts, Troy Perkins, and Mark Richardson, traveled to Hershey, PA, to play in the All-State Music Festival where they all three qualified for the All-Eastern Festival held in Atlantic City, NJ.

"Have no fear, Safety Club is here!" You've probably heard this sometime or another outside around the crosswalks or on the loading dock.

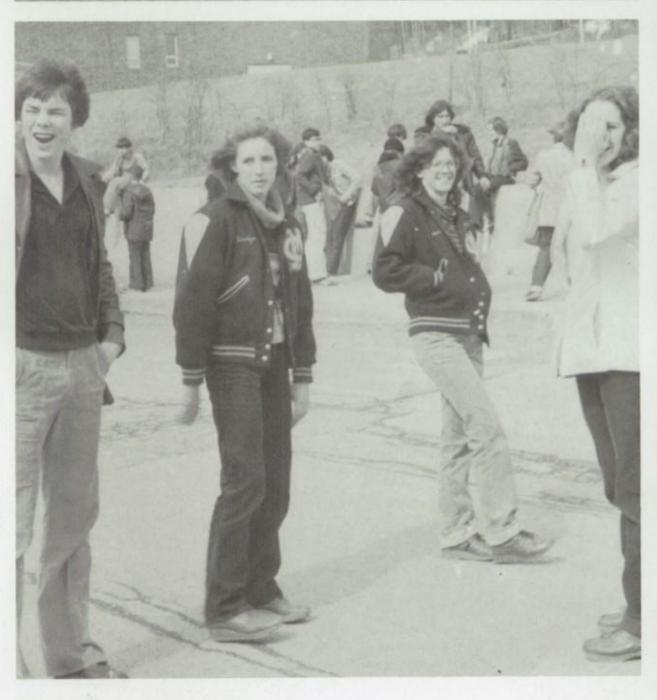

The organization consisted of 29 people, ranging from 10th grade to 12th grade. The purpose of the club was to keep the students slowed down and out of trouble during the loading and unloading of the buses. The members of the club also kept the halls and ramp in "walking order." During the lunch periods we could count on seeing a yellow badge lurking around.

Work wasn't the only thing they did. They organized hoagie sales to raise money for their annual banquet usually held at the Rusty Nail. Along with eating, they reminisced about "old times."

Once a month the club send five members to ARIN for a traffic safety meeting. When the meetings were over the members reported back to the entire club. From there the new rules were enforced throughout school.

The Usherettes were a group of 30 senior high girls. Their job was to take tickets, seat people and keep spectators from bringing any food into the gym during basketball games or wrestling matches. The girls also ushered at swim meets which were held at the pool.

One could always expect to see these girls ushering at most school activities such as Open House, school plays, dances, graduation and the Sports Banquet. Like any other organization, the usherettes raised money to support their club. This year the girls held dances after the varsity basketball games and wrestling matches.

So you see, they always looked their best and they got their jobs done.

There were some clubs that you hardly ever heard about but they were always there doing something. Stage Crew and FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) were just a couple. Under the leadership of Mrs. Marjorie Popp, the Stage Crew was always there whether it was a play, a dance, a game, the Prom, or graduation. They worked the sound system, the lights, and other odds and ends. They worked hard to prepare the stage and gym for whatever the event or the day.

FBLA also had many activities. With the help of their officers: President Louise Bennett, Vice President Karen Douglas, Recording Secretary Karen Peffer, Corresponding Secretary Colleen McCauley, Treasurer Diana Broadbent, Reporter Sharon Spence, and their advisors: Mrs. Joanne Lukehart and Miss Diane Jerz, they had a hayride, a jewelry sale, competition, and a dinner for the senior members. The people who went to competitions worked very hard to do the best that they could.

One may not have heard about Stage Crew or FBLA very often, but they did take a big slice of their respective members' lives.

At times running the library and Audio Visual (A.V.) room was hectic, but most of the time being part of the system was wonderful, terrific, and altogether-nice. That's the only way to describe the workers and advisers in the IMC — nice. The club, under the supervision of Mrs. Marjorie Taylor, Mrs. Isabelle Aul, and Mr. James McGinnis, was a very important part of our school. The club members had their traditional IMC banquet and they visited rest homes in the area at Christmas to give one of the best presents — the singing of Christmas carols.

Industrial Arts, under the supervision of Mr. Herbert Kennedy and Mr. Thomas Quinn, was also a busy club to belong to. During the course of the year members took apart (completely) a big Chevy engine and rebuilt it twice. They also brought small engines to school to work on. Students did work on electronical equipment if they wanted or they could do woodwork. With all of this activity during school one might wonder if they enjoyed school; well, they were as happy as possible and the knowledge they gained made them even happier!

Although there was an abundance of confusion concerning clubs because of snow days, etc., the Senior Science club managed to get together and discuss current happenings in the science world and recent ideas such as cloning. They also worked with blood pressure kits and learned many new and interesting facts dealing with science. Quite often their meetings were shared with fruit flies, fetal pigs, and sharks since they met in room 27A.

The Future Nurses of America started the year by going on a field trip October 25, 1978. They went to Pittsburgh to visit the Pittsburgh School for the Deaf which houses students from ages 2 to 8. Then they went to the Pittsburgh Veterans Hospital. Later they went to Monroeville Mall to shop. Finally it was time to eat at Johnny Garneau's Restaurant. To add money to their treasury Future Nurses sold homemade easter eggs.

The year started for the Future Homemakers of America with a substitute teacher as club adviser. Miss Brenda Miller took the place of Mrs. Shirley Neal who was on maternity leave. The club members sold fruitcakes, hoagies, and went to the State Convention held in Lancaster, Pa.

Historians

With the Junior High under the supervision of Mrs. Marlene Mikesell and Mrs. Jane Smith, and the Senior High being directed by Mrs. Marlene Mikesell and Mr. Richard Miller, the Historians had quite a year. They saw a filmstrip of familiar sights in Indiana County in the early 1900's given by Mrs. Eileen Cooper. Then on April 27-28, the annual convention was held at Strasburg, Pennsylvania. For the Historians, looking back on the past was a rewarding activity of the present.

M.C. Jocks

It made no difference whether one was in Basketball, Swimming, Wrestling, Track, Baseball, or any other sport at M.C. most people would consider you a JOCK. This year Varsity Club had a fund raising basketball game with faculty playing the Harlem Diplomats from Canada. This game was held on December 4, 1978, at the Marion Center gym. Varsity Club also sold pop for homeroom parties at Christmas time, and on April 20, 1979, they held a spaghetti dinner in the high school cafeteria. At the Sports Banquet they awarded Dr. John R. Mallino a Varsity Jacket for his past years as sports director. All teams that make up the Varsity Club had a great season.

The Pep Club was divided into two groups: Jr. High and Sr. High. Members had to meet requirements such as attending 1 girls' basketball game, 2 boys' basketball games, 1 wrestling match, and 1 swim meet. They painted signs to help raise school spirit. Homer Center felt the effects of our Pep Club members at the cheering contest held there on September 30, 1978.

Service is Their Valued Asset

A comparative newcomer on the scene at Marion Center was the MC'79 Club. With the help of adviser Mr. Fred Mitchell, MC'79 enjoyed a successful year. To celebrate Christmas and its spirit of giving the club sponsored a record dance Saturday, December 16, 1978. The dance helped to raise money for Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh.

MC'79 was a club that tried to get more students involved and make them happier for their involvement.

"Hey! Are you going to help with the Christmas project, the Lovebasket?"

"What's the Lovebasket?"

The Lovebasket is a food and clothing project that our Student Council is promoting this year."

We overheard this conversation near room seven one day. Lovebasket was only one of the many projects that Student Council sponsored this year. They provided the movie "The Birds" for the entire student body. Student Council also initiated meetings with our cafeteria's management.

Over the year, Student Council, with the help of Mr. Robert Anslinger its sponsor, did much to better the relationship between the student body and the school.

Below: Tom Nealer shows off a rose as he helps other Honor Society members prepare flowers for delivery during the Valentine's Day Sale sponsored by Honor Society.

When we said early that's what we meant. We decided to get things rolling by having our induction ceremony in the fall instead of the spring. The theme for this year's induction was Hope, which we wished all members would find at the end of their respective rainbows . . . Hope, along with the sunshine that filled each new member as he walked across the stage to receive his certificate of membership in the National Honor Society. In order to raise money for senior charms, we held our annual flower sale for Valentine's Day and again on Mother's Day. The community, along with the faculty and students, could order red roses, white carnations, or red carnations to give to their special someone.

We never knew what to expect when we walked into our meetings because there was always something different going on. Debates, panel discussions, and talks were just a few of the activities planned by the officers of both clubs.

All Kinds of Packages!

Latin Club, as usual, was very active in the 1978-1979 school year. Besides several bake sales and two popcorn sales, a highlight of the year for Mrs. Gorman's group was their trip to Pittsburgh. There they visited the aviary, the Cathedral of Learning, the Carnegie Museum, and the zoo. They also had their annual banquet in the fall. All of their activities were expertly organized and handled as the Latin Club had yet another successful year.

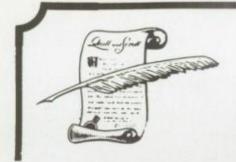

The Quill and Scroll also had a successful year, although twice they tried to organize a trip and both times the trips were cancelled. However, the annual Toys for Tots show was a success with its theme of "Mork and Mindy." Once again Bob Collesar sang "White Christmas" as a tribute to the recently deceased Bing Crosby, but many other good acts were also part of the show. The many toys that were collected were given to the Indiana County Child Welfare. Also, in their meeting on April 9, Mrs. Null, the club's advisor, led a discussion on censorship. (See page 23 for another picture of the Toys for Tots show.)

Since the very successful Latin Club boasts 76 members and the Quill and Scroll only 14, it seems safe to say that good things come in all kinds of packages!

THE YELLOW JACKET

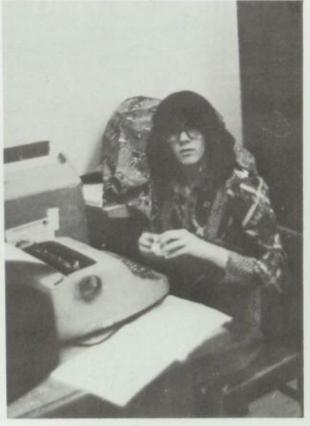

Big Bees

Todd Uncapher shows his skill of "cutting out."

Class or club? In many ways the activities which the Yellow Jacket staff was involved with resembled a club's activities; however, it was scheduled as a class and anyone who took it received credit for his efforts. Unlike other classes the spelling of words had to be consistent throughout the staff, for example, the spelling of advisor (adviser). Mr. Richard Miller did his job in helping Co-editors Brenda McCracken and Carla Wetzel run the newspaper and in turn they depended on the staff and vice versa. Cries of joy could be heard if a deadline was made on time, but if it wasn't met the staff buzzed like yellow-jackets (ha!) ... to make the paper as accurate as possible.

Yellow Jacket could also be a club. For the first time this year the Junior High Yellow Jacket Club was formed, again by the mentor Mr. Richard E. Miller. In this club the "Little Bees" were introduced to different types of layout, learned terms, and practiced various skills of writing and working with the tools of the trade.

Mr. Miller was always there to help with the paper; he was understanding and allowed the staff freedom to help make them better journalists. Even though we were hard at work most of the time we still found time to have fun. Despite the fact many of us would graduate at the end of the year the majority would look forward to at least one more year of Yellow Jacket!

Body Copy - A yearbook staff member was unlike any other student in school. We had our own problems and our own kind of language. There never seemed to be enough days on the school calendar for hectic sales campaigns, and so many deadlines. It seemed that we just got our deadline met and already it was deadline time again. Deadlines were really hard on us! We were always running around looking for and cropping that last minute picture, finishing our permanent layouts, typing up type sheets, or finishing any artwork we might have had. We were always checking spelling or making sure that there were the right number of picas for captions, headlines, or kickers, Many times trying to think of ideas and get pages finished and ready to hand in got so frustrating that we sometimes were about ready to croak. It seemed that we were never going to get done. Finally came the time when we were ready to hand in the pages. It was a big relief when the pages were approved by our Advisor Mrs. Marjorie Null. After they were approved we started to work on our other pages until all 208 were handed in. Yes, it was rough sometimes, but we always worked hard to make Centerama 79 our best ever.

The Agony of De Feet

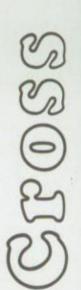

Although the cross country record wasn't spectacular this year, the thrill of victory was always kept in mind. Closer to reality, however, was the agony of defeat. Not only the hurt of losing, but the pain of blisters plagued our runners. The team ran night after night to prepare for this season's trying competition and they proved themselves by setting new school records.

The entire team, including a female newcomer Darla Whitesel, traveled to districts at Penn State to compete against thirteen other schools. Placing 74th out of 220 competitors was Terry Fairman. Even though none of the other members qualified for state competition, they all did very well.

A Look at What's to Come

The little Bees were a young team, but their hustle was evident in most every game. With this season's 11-1 record, the JVs gave MC fans a look at what to expect in the years to come. Many of the girls got a taste of varsity action as they provided a great back up team for the varsity players.

Tower of Power

Hard practices and determination proved to be an important factor in helping the Superbees obtain their 8-4 season. Coaches Caldwell and Holtz taught the girls a "man to man" defense and new offensive setups which were important aspects in the team's strategy.

The Bees took second place in the Northern Cambria Tournament. Chosen for the All Tourney team were: Peggy Fisher, Carolyn Granata, and Debi Lezanic. The Superbees placed third in the Indiana County Tournament. Carolyn Granata was named to the All Tourney team and Peggy Fisher was awarded the Most Popular Player trophy.

The New Mean Green Machine!

-Basketball-

Even though winning wasn't everything, it sure proved to be an important part of the Stingers' season this year. The roundballers put their team power together with long nightly practices and soon their concentration brought forth a new mean green machine. The players battled their way to a trying 28-6 record and captured the Indiana County League Championship, the Northern Cambria B League Championship, the Appalachian Conference Championship and placed second in the District 6 competition. They were also classified as one of the top 15 AA basketball teams in the state of Pennsylvania.

Along with breaking his 1000 point mark, Senior Jim Bothell set a new school record for the most high school career points. He broke Chuck Glasser's 1978 record high with a rip-snorting 1396 points. He also set a record for the most assists with an all-time leading 200. Bothell was the first MC basketballer ever to score 744 points in one season. Together the team worked to set a new school record with the most winningest season ever. Coach Seanor also did his part and received the Coach of the Year award.

Perhaps the best words used to describe the sensational, bouncing roundballers were the MEAN GREEN MACHINE.

JV Basketball -

Coach Joe Marz led a talented JV basketball team to a near-perfect season of nineteen wins and three losses. The team went undefeated in the Indiana County League and the Northern Cambria League. They breezed past their opponents in all except 4 games by more than ten points, and even won 13 of their 22 by more than 20 points. They finished their season with a 17 game winning streak.

Todd Brice, Tom Wilden, and Rick Wilden were the high scorers, and Bob Edwards and Todd Stuchell were good rebounders; but everyone played and had at least one good game. Coach Marx was pleased with the good attitude of his team, and he felt that this was the main factor in their winning season. Playing for the JV team wasn't easy — they even practiced against the varsity team — but nine JV players made it through the year with style.

Right: Jump ball!! Fred Classer tries to tip the ball off to Tom Wilden despite the efforts of two opponents, while Rick Wilden and George Winebark look on. Glasser was the only freshman on the team. Inset: The determined Coach Joe Marx. In only his third year of coaching JV basketball, he led the team to a championship season.

Gaining experience was the motive of these young athletes as they learned the essentials necessary to become future Varsity lettermen. The Junior High basketball teams, with the assistance of Coach Ben Lieb and Coach Jerry Keith, showed determination to improve their shooting, passing, and dribbling techniques. The Junior High wrestling team advanced a great deal as a team and as individuals. Coach Bruce Proud put forth all his effort to help the grapplers gain the knowledge of what wrestling was all about. With hard workouts and strenuous practices, they proved that their willpower would pay off during a match. Regardless of the victories and defeats the wrestling and basketball teams had an opportunity to show their skills. Although they did not have perfect records they did attain these other goals.

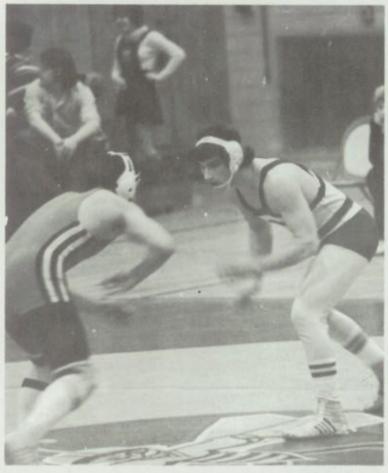

On Top Of It All

Although the chips didn't always fall the way of the grapplers, they seemed to stay on top of everything. They struggled through evening and sometimes Saturday morning practices to achieve their goals. Their daily workouts consisted of running steps, calisthenics, weight lifting, and wrestling with their teammates. Weight lifting, a new program added to help build the muscles of each member seemed to improve their abilities to wrestle successfully.

Russ Ferringer, Brian Weaver, and Jay Cornman of the varsity team, advanced to sectionals, then to regionals and finally to districts where they were all eliminated from the finals. Along with individual success, the team captured second place in the Appalachian Conference and eighth place in the Redbank Tournament.

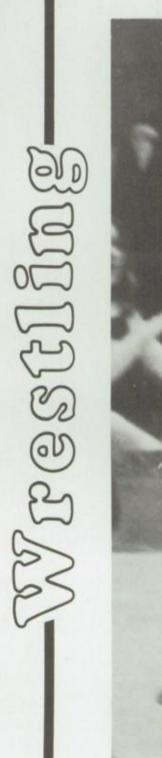

The JV record wasn't exactly a winning charm, but the matmen seemed to put the losing streak behind them and fulfill their ability to move on.

Life In The Fast Lane

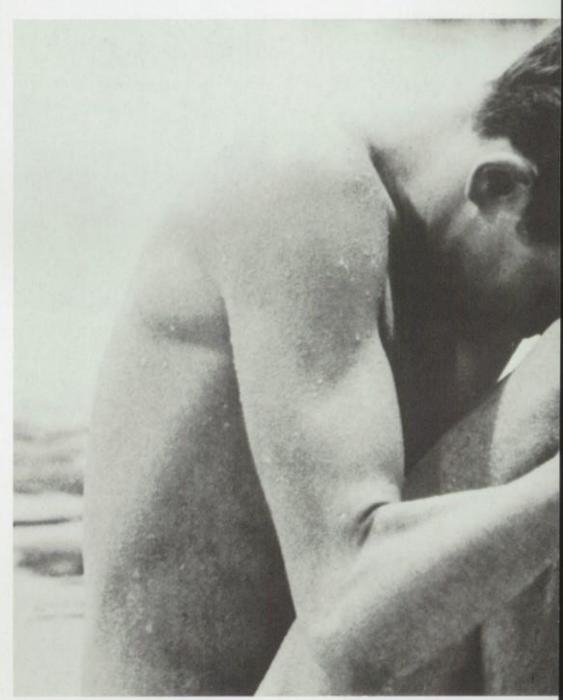

The Stingrays' (boys') overall team record was a vast improvement from the last three seasons of competition. Their enthusiasm, hard work, and high goals were the essence of the boys' success in shattering all ten of the previously set school records. The boys practiced before and after school. Handpaddles, kickboards, surgical tubing, and several trips to the weight room were all part of their daily routine. They learned the meaning of HARD WORK. The team was small in number and for most of the swimmers it was their first year on the team. It was a building year, but also a very successful one. The team advanced to the Appalachian Conference Meet; the first year for our boys' swim team to receive such an honor!

Action Between The Lanes

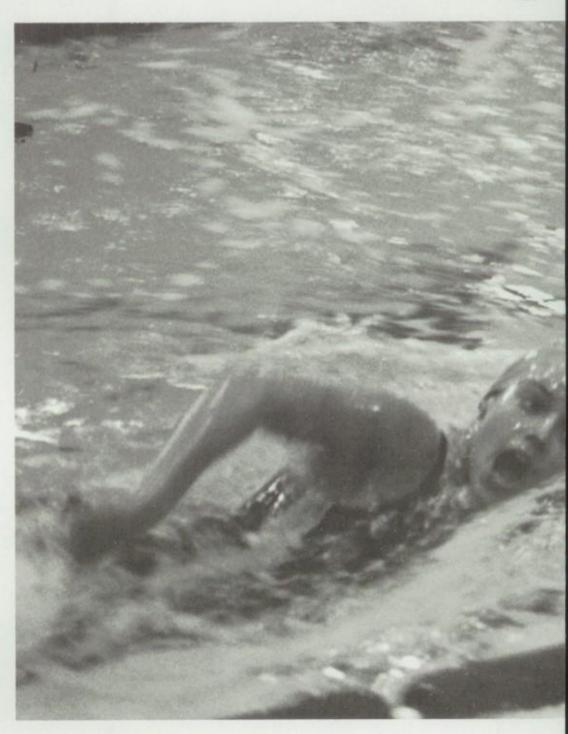

The Stingrays' (girls) fourth year of competition proved to be a good one. Practices were held five or six times a week with two practices held on some days. At 7:00 a.m. the swimmers arrived at school to put in an hour of hard practice before their classes started. The evening practices started at 2:45 p.m. and lasted until 5:00 p.m. Daily workouts consisted of a warmup, exercises, and different stroke-building techniques. By the end of practice the team averaged approximately 2 ½ miles and sometimes much more. These swimmers showed amazing willpower and determination to perfect their racing skills in order to better their times.

What You See Is What You Get!

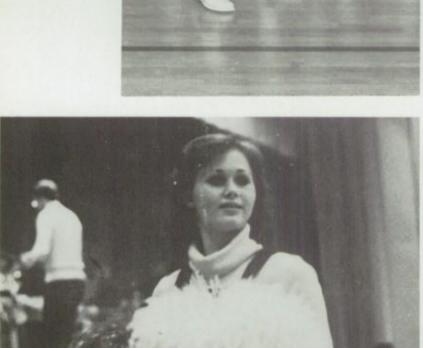

With the help of their advisor Miss Bonnie Nesbitt, the cheerleaders had a very active year.

On September 30, 1978, they went to Homer Center High School where they participated in the annual cheering contest. Even though they didn't place we knew they were the best.

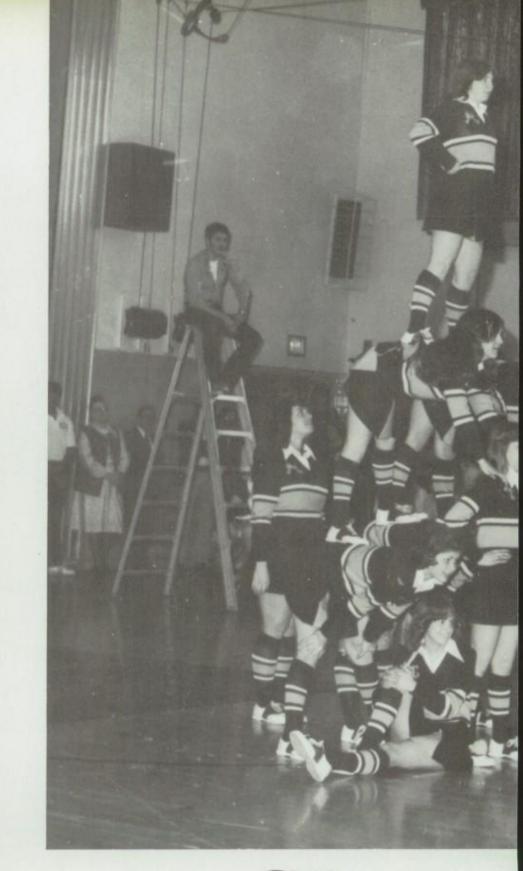

They organized and promoted a hoagie sale to help raise money for their spiffy new outfits.

Cheerleaders were always at athletic events to help cheer on the athletes to winning scores.

Foot Loose

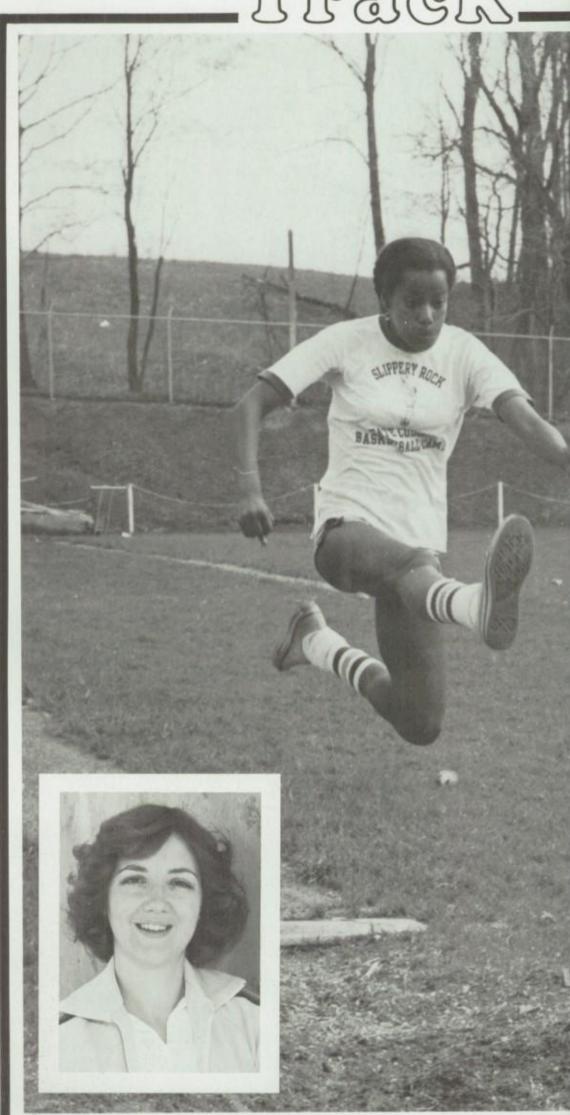

Track.

Being a part of the girls' track team was a challenge, but a very rewarding one for most of the members. Many long, hard, sweaty hours of practice resulting in sore muscles, and aching blistered feet, all were a small part of being a proud member; but soon the girls felt that all these were well worth it, just to have the satisfaction of bettering their time, increasing their distance or breaking a school record. Many of the girls, mainly underclassmen, competed for their first time; and they constantly found themselves working, trying to improve themselves. The winning season record was an excellent indication of the efforts put forth by each member. Many came as close as one second away from breaking school records; but, only one school record fell. This was the 800 meter run, taken by Carolyn Granata. As the season came to an early close, the girls were all proud knowing that they were a part of a "Foot Loose And Fancy Free" team!

And They Never Ran Out

There were times when MC's track stars wanted to throw down their running shoes, ditch their equipment, and walk away from all the hard work, sore muscles, and constant pressure. But they never ran out of enthusiasm and the will to win. Every team member put forth his best effort. Talent, skill, and pride combined to achieve the goals they were striving for - breaking school records, decreasing times by seconds - even minutes, jumping and throwing hundreds of feet, all of which were part of a successful track season. Two of the team's track men threw and jumped their way to the State Track Meet in Shippensburg. Dale Whitesel proved himself to be one of the best in his outstanding javelin throws, placing fifth. And Jeff Vogt came up second in the State with his efforts in pole vaulting. Other accomplishments were achieved by Terry Fairman who broke the school record in the mile. The 440 relay team of Gary Martin, Larry Martin, Ray Galonis, and Lawrence Lesnak ran their best and fastest to shatter last year's school record. Looks of defeat and victory marked all the faces of MC's track stars.

The girls softball team proved that one had to have toughness to hack the everyday schedules of their team. Just because they were girls didn't mean they automatically qualified to be members of the team. The girls had to go through try-outs which consisted of throwing, catching, hitting, and even stealing bases.

As their scoreboard shows, the girls fought many tough battles, but managed to pull through the season with a great record of 8 wins and 2 losses.

Baseball

Returning with 15 new members and 11 veterans, learning new techniques was an important task for the Stingers this season. They had to learn the take, steal, hit and bunt signs. They had to learn how to steal a base, the proper way to catch a fly ball, the right direction to hit the ball, how to play the different positions, and how to get along with their teammates.

Even though the weather was bad and practices were hard to schedule, the baseball team managed to prepare themselves for a red hot season. They held batting, pitching and catching practices at the field and on rainy (or snowy??) days they held catching and pitching practices in the long hallways of the school.

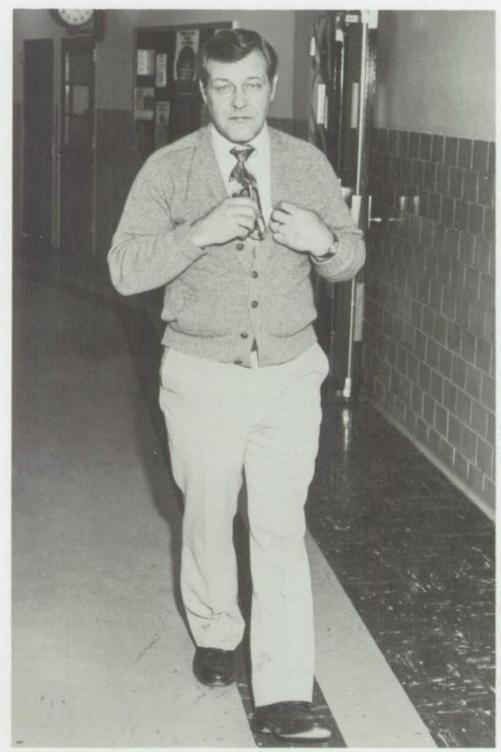

The dugout crew brought alive the team's spirit when lack of concentration got the best of them.

The time finally came with one game left in the season before county playoffs. The team went up against good ole Indiana and proved their spring training paid off. They won the game (10-1) and also captured the Section II championship. They advanced into District 6 semi finals and also to tri-county competition.

When a person thought of Marion Center's athletic program, he also had to think of Mr. James McGinnis, our popular Athletic Director. Imagine his huge job of arranging all Marion Center's sports schedules, and handling cancellations and make-up games, and you will get a glimpse of what Mr. McGinnis went through this year. In addition to everything else, he arranged the sports banquet which was a great success.

For many seniors, the sports banquet was the final tribute to their sports careers at MC, but for underclassmen it was a chance to receive recognition for all the hard work they put in this season to make 1979 the year of the athlete at Marion Center.

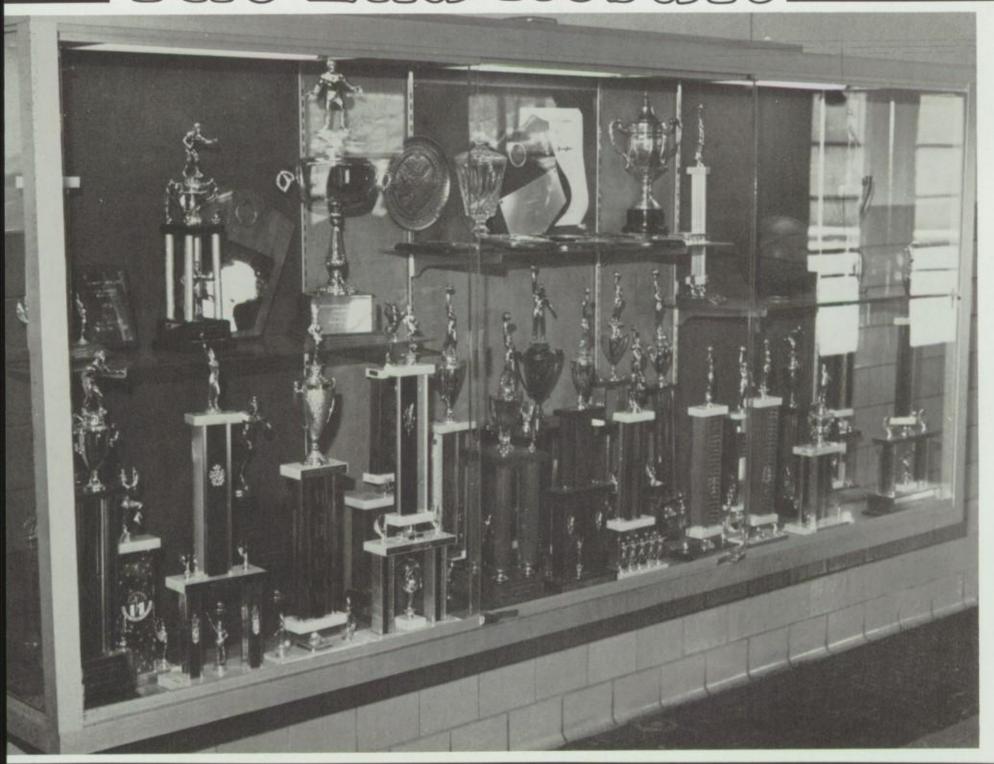

Left: Cambria County Sheriff Joseph Cavanaugh, speaker at the 1979 Sports Banquet, stands with Jim Bothell, Dale Whitesel, and Darla Whitesel. Jim was honored at the banquet for his accomplishments in basketball and baseball, Dale was noted for his basketball and track achievements, and Darla was recognized as being the first girl to compete in cross country at Marion Center. She was also a triple letter winner. Bottom Left: Mr. James McGinnis, our Athletic Director. Below: These shiny trophies and new awards are truly the end result of the successful 1979 sports year.

What Is A Teacher?

To many students a teacher was a person who was always handing out homework, giving tests, telling them to "be quiet," warning them to listen "carefully," or just talking about something in which students were not the slightest bit interested! All of these things may have been true, but there was another side to all of our teachers. Everything was not as easy for them as it seemed to be. Believe it or not they also had homework to do. Each of them had to turn in lesson plans every week for Mr. Stewart's approval. Then, they sometimes had to make changes because of a pep assembly, club period, or missed school day (because of heavy snow, etc.). This was just one of the problems they had to face. Although homework was not fun for the students, would anyone want to change places with the teachers????? Staying up until two or three o'clock in the morning correcting student papers was not much fun!

Here are a few facts, along with the faces, just to show another side of our really great teachers;

Mr. Rodney Allshouse (Captain Midnight) BS and MED, IUP - AV Specialist, University of Pittsburgh - Planetarium K-12 - Hates paperwork - likes MC students Would like to be stranded on a deserted island with his wife because she's an "amazing" woman.

We Depend On Them

The concerns of the public as well as the students and faculty were handled by our administrators, Superintendent Dr. John R. Mallino, Principal Mr. Robert L. Stewart, and Assistant Principal Mr. Everett Dembosky. Along with members of the Marion Center Area School Board these men were dedicated to uphold the educational process and maintain a certain stability here at Marion Center in the face of a rapidly changing world culture.

The entire welfare of our school depended greatly on their decisions. The success of these decisions could be seen everywhere in our school.

The secretaries and teacher's aides were quite busy during the 1978-79 school term so some students with a little free time assisted them in various work assignments in the main office as well as the guidance office. The secretaries and teacher's aides worked hand-in-hand to provide better service to the students. Among the many duties of a secretary or teacher's aide were: answering ringing telephones, taking dictations from the boss, and facing some bewildered faces who came running to the office for help as a last result. Along with this piled into one day there was a great responsibility held over them. But we, the students, helped them to help us!

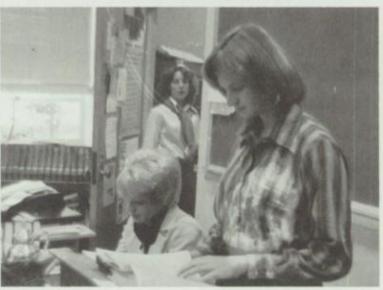

First Semester Student Teachers are: Mr. Dave Hillbery, Miss Shauna Thomaswick, and Mr. Philip Tartalone.

There's always a beginning for everything and so a teacher must begin his career as a student teacher. MC welcomed seven student teachers to its faculty list. Three joined MC during the first semester and four were added the second semester. These student teachers learned from their own teaching experiences as well as from the students. Being a student teacher wasn't easy at first and here again the students had to help to make it a little more easier with patience, ambition, and attention before they could help us learn. It worked both ways here at MC: we helped them - they helped us!

Lending A Helping Hand

Just as behind every cloud there was a silver lining, behind every student there was a hungry mouth to feed, the need to be transported to and from school, and, of course, a mess to clean up! For the first time students had their choice of two selections of food, plus being able to buy ice cream any time during their lunch period. This was a good thing for the students, but it meant more work for the cooks. Through it all our cooks kept on smiling.

Getting up at 6:00 a.m. going out in all kinds of weather, over some very rough roads to pick up 30 or more noisy kids did not sound like much fun. Our bus drivers did this everyday, plus taking kids on field trips and to away athletic events. And for doing all the other things, we relied on these men and women.

As if by magic, sometime between 2:22 pm in the afternoon and 8:00 am the next morning, waste-baskets were emptied, floors swept, and all traces of over one thousand students were removed. Although the custodial staff worked unseen by most of us, the results of their labors were seen daily.

The Cooks are: Kneeling: Mary Griffith, Helen Simpson, Irene Wetzel, Carol Byers, Eleanor McCracken, Loretta Forsythe, Standing: Ethel Mae Mottorn, Ruth Orr, Maxine McFarland, Bertha Pardee, Isabel Fulmer, Margaret Shields, Helen Adamson.

A big slice of our lives was the giant step from grade school into the winding halls of MC. This became the first slice of our high school years.

For most, it began on August 28, 1978, when we, the class of 1984, ventured into the frustrating world of high school.

We began numerous activities such as: selecting class officers, enjoying assemblies, participating in the intramural program and various clubs. Along with the fun, we found there was work to be done: raising money in the magazine campaign for future use, practicing for extra curricular activities, and the homework that goes with high school.

In 1979, we came to realize a new start . . . The first slice of our high school days.

One of the many English requirements for 7th grade students was speech presentation.

Each student had his own feelings about the situation. Some were scared; some, nervous; and some, anxious to get it over. But they had many things to worry about such as: volume, eye contact, and poise. Each student was to take no more than five minutes and no less then two minutes to deliver his speech. After it was over they came to realize that they really accomplished something worthwhile. This may have been their first speech, but it surely wouldn't be their last!

Mrs. Theda Lightcap was a person known by all seventh graders. She was their "guiding light." For the class of 1984 she was not only their English teacher, but also their class sponsor.

Together, she and her class had many things to plan for the coming year. First, they listened attentively to Mr. Stewart who encouraged them to a great start.

Next, they had class officers to choose. Later, as the year continued, they conducted a worthwhile magazine campaign to raise money for their future years at MC.

Centering In On Eighth

With a bus strike first thing in the year, it was hard for us to get everything together, but we managed very well, if we did have to say so ourselves. Eighth grade wasn't as hard as seventh, but we still had to meet new teachers, and experience new things. We elected terrific class officers, and they worked to maintain their promises. The grading scale got tougher, and we worked harder to maintain established averages. Despite all this, we still kept up the spirit of having fun, and lived out eighth grade to the best of our ability. After looking on the center year of junior high, we had to admit ... eighth was great!!!

Eighth comes to an end ...

Center Of Attraction

Denver Braughler stood out from the rest of the eighth graders — and not because he was tallest!! Denver did many extraordinary things this year. For example, he went to Russia. During his two week stay he visited Moscow. There he saw the Grave of the Unknown Soldier, Lenin's Mausoleum, and even a Russian circus. There were sights such as: a history museum, a monument to the conquerers of outer space, and many cathedrals. Then he saw the circus in Leningrad. Denver said that the only thing different about their circus was the fact that they spoke Russian! Also in Leningrad, Denver saw Peter and Paul's Fortress, St. Issac's Cathedral, and a Russian art museum. Denver also visited such places as Kharkov, Kiev, and Odessa. In Kharkov, he went to an Assumption Church, and visited Dzerzhinsky Square. He saw the wall of Famous People, and had a boat tour on the Black Sea in Odessa. Denver was an Arin Intermediate student. He had a high I.Q., and even worked on computers! He was in Physical Science II, a special class for the gifted students. Denver lived on a farm, and often won prizes in tractor pulls. He had two sisters, and he was the oldest child in his family. Denver was a special student in our class, and he contributed much to our eighth grade year.

Yes, it's true. 194 ninth graders existed through the confusing happenings of 1979. First, it was the scheduling; boys were assigned to girl's gym classes, and vice-versa. Then it was getting to know our new guidance counselor, Mrs. Paula Elkin, who replaced Ms. Rebecca Gaiser this year. We even had to switch our lunch period from fourth to fifth period, leaving students hungry one period longer but shortening our afternoons. However, our class president Lawrence Lesnak and the other officers tried their best to organize a successful year amidst all the confusion. So, most of us made it through without going to room 3, or going crazy, or both.

They Sure Are!

The area representative from Perfect School Plan came and directed an assembly in January to tell everyone in the junior high about the magazine campaign. He showed us the prizes which would be awarded to everyone who assisted in selling magazines. These prizes ranged from frisbees and stuffed animals to a Panasonic portable TV.

The campaign held its own against two snow days and again was a huge success for all of the junior high. Our ninth grade class cleared a thousand dollars in profits from it; so even if this was the last year for participation by the class of '82, we sure did make the most of it!

We started the year being fed to a computer! Everything was in turmoil!! Re-scheduling was no fun, for we had to make rapid decisions on schedule changes to keep up with the blasted computer!! We felt weird, and couldn't believe we were in senior high. We had new decisions, responsibilities and more opportunities. We had a choice of many electives and different types of classes to suit our own likings. We chose the tracks that we would probably follow for the rest of our years at Marion Center High School. We began to think about and discuss what we would be when we got out of school. We elected our tenth grade class officers. We got to know what the teachers and other students expected of us. We then could breathe freely, relax and at times even enjoy the year for what it was . . . Our Middle Slice of Life!

Roll On

The tenth grade had a class meeting on October 19, 1978 to discuss how to raise some money. We decided to have a skating party. We had to form different committees: a poster committee for advertisements, a ticket committee to cut the tickets apart, and also one to sell the tickets during the lunch periods. Our adviser Miss Judith Skubis was the mastermind who got it all together. Our class officers were also quite busy trying to find chaperones. With great luck we got very good ones, Mr. and Mrs. David Morris, Mr. and Mrs. William Null, Mrs. Theda Lightcap, Miss Judith Skubis, Mr. Eugene James, and student teacher Mr. Philip Tartalone. The date was October 20th, at the Punxsutawney Skate Haven. Two buses were taken and if a student didn't want to ride the bus he could find his own transportation. As the music began, everyone got on his skates, some wobbled on turned-in ankles out onto the floor. The music was nice and everyone had lots of fun, except for the times when we flew around the rink on a collision course of lumps, bumps, and great big black and blue marks, OUCH!

A Slice of Success With a Touch of Class

The class officers are: Treasurer Sharon Hauck, Secretary Kim Short, Vice-president Karen Douglas, and President Peggy Houston.

Ah! Juniors at last! Though some of us wondered if we'd ever make it this far, we were surprised at how quickly we became Juniors. We now found ourselves choosing our class rings, and anxiously awaiting the Junior-Senior prom. We all had to work extra hard to earn the two additional credits that were needed for graduation. Instead of 13 %, we needed 15 % credits to graduate. Though we had one more year of high school, the largest slice of our high school lives was behind us!

Being a Junior meant many things to us, but one of the most important was getting our class rings. It began the last couple of weeks in September. We heard presentations from two companies; Herff Jones and Jostens. They showed us the many ways we could "personalize" our rings. We had our choice of buying from either company. Then the first week of October we ordered our rings. From then on the days seemed to go by pretty slowly. The Josten rings came in the Thursday before Christmas vacation and the rest of that day was spent getting our rings "turned." The Herff Jones rings were picked up at Widdowson's Jewelry in Indiana. After the excitement wore off we finally realized an important slice of our lives was being spent here in high school.

CLASS

Brian T. Anderson

Excited, sentimental, happy, and sad all at the same time - indeed we were fine in '79! After 12 years of anticipation, we finally reached it - our senior year. We sat proudly above all the underclassmen and thought to ourselves, "We made it!" The envy of the rest of the school, we decided to "live it up" our last year at MC, and make it one that couldn't be forgotten.

After we elected our class officers, we really got into the swing of being seniors. We chose our class colors, flower, motto, and announcements. We also had the fun task of autographing all our senior pictures. Never was there such a serious epidemic of writer's cramp!

To start the new year off right, on January 17, we were measured for caps and gowns, and it seemed everything was set for graduation in May. But commencement seemed so far away at the time that most of the class of '79 forgot about it and let their minds wander to other things. What to do after graduation was a big question on many of our minds. Whether or not to go on to school or go directly to work was a decision each of us had to make.

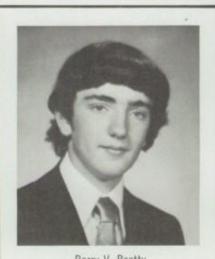

It all fell into place, though, and graduation finally rolled around. Our class trip, graduation practices, and last minute rehearsals cut into the daily routine. It seemed an end to our high school days was finally in sight. "The end" brought back many memories for each of us - ones that we would cherish always, but we realized though we'd go our separate ways after graduation, the Class of 1979 would be together forever.

"It's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there," was the general consensus of the seniors who went on the class trip to New York City April 26-28, 1979. While there, members of the class of '79 were treated to the best "the big apple" had to offer. After riding 7 hours on the bus and checking into the Hotel Edison, we were off to Mamma Leone's Italian Restaurant where we ate and laughed and ate and laughed some more! "Grease" was the next thing on our agenda and it could only be described as TERRIFIC! Most of us felt this was the best part of the whole trip. The next day dawned cold and rainy; and after breakfast at Beefsteak Charlie's, we were off to see the sights. Our tour guide (with a million jokes) showed us everything from the Bowery to Broadway, Chinatown to Wall Street, Greenwich Village to Harlem. We also toured the Empire State Building, the United Nations Building, the Statue of Liberty, and the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Nearly exhausted when we got back to the hotel, we ate dinner at Beefsteak Charlies and prepared to leave for good old M.C. and our nice warm beds.

Although the weather was unpleasant, the class of '79 would always cherish the memories created in New York City - the Big Apple!

Vespers

On May 27, 1979, the seniors experienced their first formal step towards graduation as they attended the Vespers Service held in the high school auditorium. Various churches of the school district sponsored the service and also honored 21 seniors for their service to their respective churches. Rev. Father Nicholas Trongo gave recognition to these seniors. The main speaker, Rev. Richard Cooper presented the Seniors with a sermon entitled "Count the Cost". To add a special touch to the evening, the choir of the Wesleyan Church of Dixonville, under the direction of Larry Peterson, sang two anthems.

Thursday morning May 31, the seniors assembled in the gym to spend their last day at M.C.. A Senior Send Off replaced the annual farewell assembly. Sponsors of the Send Off were Mrs. Joan Freeman and Mrs. Elizabeth Gorman. Immediately following the final rehearsal for Commencement, seniors returned to the gym dressed for the occasion. The Send Off was amusing to most as those attending listened to the class history, a few teacher-make-fun-of-senior awards, and a look into the future which brought a few chuckles; and, at times uproars from the audience. A tea prepared by Mrs. Mary Keith and the home ecomonics department was served to seniors and their guests at 12:30 pm.

Senior Send Off

Above: "Mr. Patience" Ed Peterson receives his duck call from Mrs. Gorman. Four years is a long time to wait!! In exchange Ed gives her a red marble apple and a big hug.

Commencement

Yes, miracles do happen! At 8:00 p.m. on May 31, 1979, the members of the class of 1979 ended their high school scholastic careers as they participated in graduation exercises under the direction of Mr. Richard Miller and Mrs. Marjorie Null. The seniors listened to the Commencement address "Education and the Pursuit of Happiness" delivered by Dr. Joseph Bentivegna. Then the big moment arrived - the presentation of diplomas and the tassel switching ceremony by board president Mr. Ted Banks. A few tears were shed during the traditional flower parade as the seniors marched outside. With words of Valedictorian Lori Lesnak's Flower Parade speech still echoing in their ears, they (some sadly and some gladly) greeted their friends and families outside.

Top: If they resemble three wisemen it's because they are! MC's Dr. John R. Mallino and Mr. Robert L. Stewart flank Commencement speaker Dr. Joseph Bentivegna of St. Francis College, Loretto Pa. Middle: Members of the class of 1979 patiently wait for administrators, faculty, and Commencement speakers to take their places. Above: Senior Cornie Glasser receives her diploma plus a big kiss from her proud dad Mr. C. Raymond Glasser, a member of the MC school board. Assistant Principal Everett Dembosky smiles his approval. Wait until Kate graduates Mr. D! Right: Mr. Philip Tartalone directs the senior ensemble in singing "Hope for the Future".

Below: Senior class president Cyndy Tucker gives her welcome address as dignitaries listen intently. They are: Father Nicholas Trongo, Mr. Everett Dembosky, Mr. Robert L. Stewart, Lori Lesnak, Mr. Ted Banks, Mrs. Marjorie Null, Dr. John Mallino, Mr. Elizabeth Dell Antonio, Dr. Joseph Bentivegna, Mr. Richard Miller, and Rev. Harold Orr.

It's Only the Beginning

As we left the wild and crazy 70's, we left both good and bad behind and forged ahead to the uncertainties of the 1980's. When we look back in the years to come, these are some of the things we might remember about the 1970's . . .

Yes, we may look back at the 1970's, sigh, and say to oursevles, "Those were the days!"

As the song says:

"It Don't Come Easy"

At first it really did seem like 1979 would be a "chopped up" year, but it really wasn't all that bad. Every year has its hassles, but 1979 seemed a little out of the ordinary. With computer scheduling and the other changes, it was as though We'd never settle down into a "normal" year. When the dust finally settled and things worked into a routine, we realized 1979 wouldn't come easy — we'd had to make it good year — our slice of life to remember.

Right: Senior Connie Hamilton is selected to be a participant in the Pennsylvania Junior Science and Humanities Symposium November 5-7, 1978. She and Nuclear Science instructor Mr. John Petrosky pose with sophisticated science equipment. While at the Symposium, Connie will stay at the Nittany Lion Inn on the Penn State University Campus, Below: Receiving the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award and a warm handshake from Principal Mr. R.L. Stewart is senior Tom Betts. Bottom Right: Pride in our school can be shown by helping to add beauty to the building. Pam McCracken, Tammy Winebark, Sheila Bernard, and Georgia Walker pose with the mural they painted on the library doors.

Left: Getting improvements made (like fixing the holes in the student parking lot) doesn't usually come easy. Below: Perfection in the kitchen doesn't come easy as any of Mrs. Mary Keith's Foods students could testify.

Wow! We've made it! After the months of writing copy, cropping pictures, typing typesheets, hiring and assisting professional photographers for portrait galleries, arguing with our staff photographers about lost negatives, etc., losing our tempers and making up again, we finally had something substantial to show for it all. Up until now, it had been all plans, ideas, and hopes - all abstracts.

Now here it is - all the feelings and happenings of the year in print. Through it all we tried to maintain certain standards which required a considerable chunk of time and a huge portion of our energy.

So this is it - our Center Slice. We hope you enjoyed the year 1979 as much as we did.
